

Friday Feeling – a message from the Headmaster

Tales of penguins, polar bears, exploration, royalty and wounded soldiers dominated our very special assembly this morning. Simon Daghish, co-founder of Walking with the Wounded, brilliantly led the children through incredible stories which were inspiring for us all. Although there was no Prince Harry in tow, he promised to tell him of his spectacular visit to Haig School. Whilst we were all in awe of his story he also piled the praise on what he described as a brilliant school full of inspirational children. The children took the opportunity to ask some tremendous questions and we could have quite happily listened to Simon all day.

I was also delighted to be able to present Simon with a cheque for £1200 thanks to the brilliant support I have had from the whole community, particularly the children in school, in completing the drag and load challenge earlier this week.

With the snow arriving be sure to tick of the snowman making challenge!! The race is on to complete the Haig 50. Go for it...

Have a wonderful weekend,

Ben Turner
